The Andover Athletic association team will play the Blue stockings of North Andover, on Brothers' Field, Thanksgiving morning at 9.30 o'clock.

A union service will be held as usual at the South church, Thanksgiving morning at 10.30. The pastor of the church will be the preacher and Miss Mabel Carter will sing.

At a session of probate court held in Lawrence on Monday administration was granted on the estate of the late Benjamin Jenkins. Charles B. Jenkins was named administrator.

A banquet will be tendered the Rough Riders in Pilgrim hall next Monday evening, by the Republican Town committee. All members of the company are requested to appear with hats.

The Tiger football team will go to Manchester, N. H., on Thanksgiving Day to play the strong high school team of that city. It is expected that many local enthusiasts will accompany the team.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira B. Hill of Methuen have returned to Andover to reside and will live on Salem street. Mr. Hill will be employed on the estate of Ex-Congressman William S. Knox on Porter street.

A young deer was seen by Harry M. Eames, crossing his field on the North Andover road, at about noon last Sunday. It seemed to be very tame and slowly passed out of sight into Carmel woods.

The old fashioned social and entertainment which was to have been held by the Ladies' Aid society of the Baptist church last evening, has been postponed to this evening. A good time is assured to all who attend.

The police service at the Andover-Exeter game Saturday was all that could be desired. The local force was assisted by sixteen Lawrence officers. Chief of Police Frye had the entire force in charge and the best of order prevailed throughout the contest.

Rev. Clark Carter will speak at the South church, Sunday evening on the subject of "Juvenile Courts and Probations." Mr. Carter was one of the speakers at the State Charities Conference in Springfield week before last. The soloist will be Mrs. C. H. Kitchen of Lawrence.

E. I. Thompson, captain of this year's P. A. football team, was removed to the Lawrence General hospital on Sunday morning to recuperate having received several slight injuries during the Exeter game on Saturday. Thompson's work during the game was one of the features, he having handled his position remarkably well.

St. Valentine has arranged with Cupid to be present at the King's Daughters' Fair, Dec. 2nd. He will be drawn about in a chariot of flowers by two nymphs and will distribute hearts to young and old, married and single alike; this is an opportunity which should not be missed, especially by the young men and maidens.

To your sweetheart, fond and true Take some modest violets, blue, Or some pinks, with fragrance rare, Sold at the King's Daughters' Fair.

George Guthrie attended the dog show in Boston on Wednesday.

Dana Chase of Valpey Bros.' market is confined to the house this week by illness.

Frank P. Higgins catered at the Plummer-Ellis wedding in Lawrence on Tuesday evening.

The Tigers go to Reading tomorrow afternoon to compete with a strong aggregation of that town.

Next Monday evening, Nov. 21, the members of Indian Ridge Rebekah lodge, No. 139, will hold a whist party after their regular meeting.

The engagement is announced of Burnside Winslow, P. A. '00, and Miss Helen Carrington of New Haven, Conn. Winslow was captain of the Andover baseball team in 1900 and was captain of the Yale nine last year.

Professor Rufus B. Richardson will give an illustrated lecture on the "Excavations at Corinth" at the Dining hall this evening. The lecture promises to be unusually interesting and is open to anyone who cares to go. The tickets are 50 cents.

Do not forget the annual Thanksgiving sale to be held in the Christ church parish house, on Tuesday, Nov. 22, from 11 to 12 a. m. and 2 to 5 p. m. There you can buy home made pies, cake, puddings, candy, preserves, and everything needed for a Thanksgiving dinner. A mystery table will be one of the attractions, and tea will be served. Everybody is invited.

Lawyer George W. Foster met with a painful accident at his home on Main street late on Saturday evening. Mr. Foster had been in the cellar attending to his furnace and was just ascending the cellar stairs. His foot slipped when a few steps up and he fell heavily to the floor which was of concrete. He landed on his shoulder and upon examination by a physician, it was found that his collar bone had been broken.

The Crescent football team held a very enjoyable dance in Pilgrim hall last evening. Thomson's orchestra furnished music. The following had charge of the dance: Floor director, Albert Kent; assistant floor director, Robert Dixon; aids, James Long, James Anderson, John Ross, David Anderson, Joseph Craig, Albert Kent, William Connolly, William Morrissey, Robert Crockett, Andrew Dixon, committee of arrangement, Robert Dixon, chairman, Alexander Dudley, Albert Kent.

The following communication is a special to the Townsman from New Haven, Conn.: "Pete Dugan arrived in New Haven, Conn., on Monday afternoon for a week's vacation, where he was well received by the old Andover fellows, especially Mr. Edwin White, assistant manager of the Yale football team, who furnished him a swell room in the Y. M. C. A. building, and got him accommodations to eat with the foot ball team until after the Harvard-Yale game on Saturday, where he expects to see the Yale boys win by 40 to 0."

A meeting of Lincoln lodge, No. 78, A. O. U. W., was held in Workman hall on Monday evening and was followed by a steamed clam supper. A number of members of Bart lodge of Haverhill, were present, there being about thirty to sit down to the tables. Everything that goes with clams was on the tables and all did ample justice to the spread. Richard Whitten was the very able chef. After the clams had been disposed of cigars were passed around and a smoke enjoyed. Later in the evening many of the members rendered vocal selections and a social hour passed the time off pleasantly.

The Moran Brothers of Lawrence, will give an exhibition of dumb-bell turning and juggling on Wednesday evening, at St. Joseph's fair, Ballardvale.

The second round in the Abbot Village quoiting club tournament will take place on the Cricket club grounds tomorrow afternoon. The finals will be played off on Thanksgiving.

A dance will be given by the Y. M. C. T. A. in Pilgrim hall, on Wednesday, November 30, which should be well attended. The tickets are for sale by the members of the organization and are 25 cents.

At the Phillips Inn on Thanksgiving day dinner will be served from 1 to 2.30 o'clock p. m. Manager Stewart will serve a tempting menu and people who are away from the home fireside will find the Inn to be a delightful place for their Thanksgiving dinner.

James N. Putnam is soon to enter the employ of William M. Wood as manager of his farm. Mr. Putnam for many years filled a similar capacity for Peter D. Smith in West Andover but lately has been in the employ of the town.

At the first meeting of the season of the Young Men's club of the Free church held Monday evening, George W. Low of the Punchard faculty gave a very instructive and interesting lecture on chemistry. The lecture was illustrated by experiments. Following the lecture games were played.

Thomas Doyle has accepted the position of fireman at the Smith & Dove mills in Abbott Village, taking the place of Maurice Collins who was forced to resign owing to ill health, having served the company 40 years. Mr. Doyle recently secured a first class fireman's license in Boston.

The Christ church choir boys had no difficulty in defeating the St. Mary's church choir team of Newton in a one sided game of football on the local playground Saturday, the score being 35 to 0. P. Hardy and McCreadie were the stars for the home team, the latter making several long runs and scoring four of the touchdowns.

The Andover Athletic Association held its first annual dance in the Town hall, last Friday evening, and although it was not as largely attended as desired, it proved a very enjoyable affair. Dancing started shortly after eight and continued until midnight to music furnished by Newton's orchestra. The officers officiating were floor director, M. J. Crowley; assistant floor director, William Hardy; aids, W. C. Crowley, N. G. Gleason, Malcolm McTernan, Thomas Maloney, D. J. Moynihan, C. A. Foster, L. J. Hannon, C. A. Higgins, Edward Nolan, Philip Reed, Wilson Knipe, C. J. Moynihan, John Sweeney, and P. J. Hannon.

Mrs. Pyam D. Morgan of San Jose, California, spent Monday with friends in the Vale.

Miss Lizzie E. Salmond has been spending the week with her sister, Mrs. L. J. Griffin of Haverhill.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Slade of Boston have been the guests for several days of Mr. and Mrs. Howell F. Wilson.

A delegation of local Good Templars attended the meeting of Shawheen lodge in Andover, last Thursday evening.

Ferry Parkhurst of Malden and Miss Florence Wright of Quechee, Vt., were the guests Thursday of relatives in the Village.

James Hudson, jr., a former resident of the Vale, has been nominated as a councillor by the republicans of Ward 2, Lawrence.

There will be a Union Thanksgiving service in the Congregational church next Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Rev. Augustus H. Fuller will give the address. The public is very cordially invited to attend.

St. Joseph's church will hold a fair in Bradlee hall, next week, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. There will be Sunday school, refreshment, and fancy tables. A good entertainment will be provided each evening. Wednesday evening it will consist of instrumental music by the Doucet quartet, songs by Miss Alice Vignat of Lowell, songs by Miss Kate White of Lawrence. Thursday afternoon the entertainment will be given by the children. The children will be admitted free. Single admission 25 cents. Season ticket, three nights, 50 cents. The public is very cordially invited to attend.

The second number in the Bradlee course was given last Wednesday evening, consisting of a lecture on "The Panama Canal," by Peter McQueen. It was a first class lecture in every respect. While Mr. McQueen dwelt particularly on the Panama canal, he also spoke briefly on all our new possessions, relating many anecdotes and personal experiences through which he had passed in his extensive travels to all parts of the world. The views were very fine and added much to the vividness of his descriptions. Such a lecture could not but make everyone present feel proud that he was a citizen of a country that was doing so much to civilize and Christianize the world.

Obituary.
TIMOTHY E. DAVIS.

Timothy E. Davis, a former resident of Ballardvale, died last Sunday evening, at his home in Chelsea of Bright's disease, after an illness of about eighteen months, at the age of 45 years. The deceased formerly lived in the Vale for a number of years, but about eighteen years ago he removed to Chelsea, where he has since resided. For a number of years he was foreman of the Magee Furnace Co. He then went south for his health. On his return he worked for Clarke & Co. of Boston, in whose employ he was at the time of his death.

He was a member of Knights of Pythias and the Odd Fellows of Chelsea. He leaves a wife to mourn his loss. The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon from his late home in Chelsea. Interment in the Glenwood cemetery.

A WORTHY TRIBUTE TO A NOBLE LIFE.

It was all very plain, very simple, very dignified—a plainness, a simplicity and a dignity typical of the character of Gilbert E. Hood and the life he had lived.

The cathedral-like appearance of Trinity church, its massive proportions, stained windows and all oak wainscoting, lent solemnity to the proceedings. The gathering of relatives, of friends, of business associates of acquaintances, added in its way to the tribute which the living paid to the dead in the passing of Mr. Hood.

Rev. Frederick Harlan Page led the procession up the center aisle, reciting the comforting words of the Saviour, "I am the resurrection and the life, preceding the six bearers. Then followed the casket and immediately behind the relatives. Seats reserved on the center aisle were filled by these. Almost every seat in the church was occupied.

The service began shortly after 2 o'clock. The body in its shroud, the latter with its garniture of costly flowers, occupied the space in front of the pulpit. On each chandelier of the organ screen rested a large cross.

Rev. Mr. Page read selections, followed by prayer. Then the congregation repeated after him "The Lord's Prayer." A quartet composed of Miss Sadie Peckover and Miss Margaret Wither, Dr. Partridge and Mr. Ewart, rendered "He Ledeth Me." "The Apostles' Creed" followed, pastor and people reciting in unison.

The scripture lesson was from St. Paul's inspired words. Cardinal Newman's cry from a disturbed soul, "Lead, kindly Light," was beautifully sung by the quartet.

The eulogy pronounced by Reverend Frederick Harlan Page was as follows: "The life of Gilbert Edwin Hood has been lived amongst us so fully and so openly, and has abounded so generously to the welfare of all our people that it seems fitting to utter some simple words in public tribute, before our service ceases and his associates bear him from our sight to the silent city on the hill.

Such words as I would speak are only those which come naturally to us, and which have been uttered in our homes and streets and places of business, by people in all walks of life. For half a century he has gone in and out amongst his fellow citizens of Lawrence, during which time his life has been an open book, known and read by all men. He has been notable in all these years as one of the men who founded the institutions of this new city and stamped its character.

We commonly speak of Lawrence as having been built up by the development of the great power which nature afforded her in the Merrimack, but we are not unmindful that the greater power has been the men whom the stir of enterprise attracted from all over New England and from across the sea. These men by their energy and integrity have created our city. They came together a throng of pioneers. They instituted all the great organizations essential to business, charitable and religious welfare and kept step with the progress of the older cities about us. In this extraordinary achievement few have done so much, perhaps no one has done more, as he whose work is now at an end. Others have been at times more prominent, but his great strength, whether in the more public or more private ways has continued without a break. He has ever been a consistent man.

Coming here as a lawyer he was at once influential in his profession. An associate justice of the Municipal Court and the first register of deeds in this northern Essex district. Called out of his profession to be Superintendent of the public schools he laid the foundations in this department at a time when the city was in its infancy and leaps and bounds, and when many of the great school buildings were erected, among them the old high school. The late James H. Eaton was principal of the Oliver school in the beginning of Mr. Hood's superintendency, and from that early date he both served the city with rare amplitude of powers—each according to his gifts.

The time came nearly 30 years ago now, when one of the banks of our city needed above all other resources the supreme asset of a man—men who should command the confidence of all the people, rich and poor, whose ability, wisdom and fidelity meant to itself security and success. The trustees found such a man in Mr. Hood, and they took him from the schools to the bank. How well he met the demands of the position many of you know. What he did for the Broadway Savings bank in his management, and what he was to it in his character, constitutes one of the finest episodes in the business annals of our city. It is dramatic, indeed, that the very name of last Saturday afternoon when the new bank building was opened should be the hour of his death, and that when the public came to mark the great step in the progress of the institution, and see what the builders had wrought, they should find the emblem of mourning upon the door.

We all know men whose strength of life has gone out in a single direction that so they might serve their generation best. But with our friend there was so rich a nature and sympathies so widespread that he could serve wherever men were needed. And thus it happens that one finds in the noble name whenever the records of our city's foundations are read. He was a promoter with the late Sheriff Herrick of the Industrial school and fostered it for years. The Young Men's Christian association looked to him for leadership at a critical time in its career, and he remained at its head until its foundations were deeply and broadly established. For a long period he was president of the City Mission, only relinquishing the burden two or three years ago. His last day's work might be said to have been spent in behalf of the Aged People's home, at its annual meeting a fortnight since.

He did not seek political office and his service was devoted almost exclusively to the city which he has helped to build—yet not all his service was rendered here. Not many know—for his modest lips never proclaimed it—that he has been for years active in one of the foremost organizations in New England for the moral and religious relief of decadent towns in our commonwealth and for the assimilation of the foreign hosts into our spirit.

This he has done through the Massachusetts Home Missionary society as director, and of late years the chairman of its board. It is a fine thing, is it not, that one who stood forth as such a typical representative of our old New England stock should also be among the foremost to help meet the pressing problems of new New England?

Wherever a strong man was needed

those sought him who knew him. Sagacity was in his blood, responsibility was his gift, and fidelity was in every fibre of his life.

In his social life courtesy and gentility were the ornaments of his character. How greatly he will be missed in his home and by his kindred only his own may say, but we who have known him well can deeply sympathize in that intimate circle of chosen associates, of which he was the oldest and last surviving original member, his memory will always be treasured for all that he was as a friend among friends, most brotherly and most kind.

It remains only to speak a word of his religious life, and to say it last because it is of chief importance. To all the spheres of his wide activities there was a centre—the church of our Lord Jesus Christ. To that centre he steadfastly carried the first of all that he had and was. Out of it he drew, as from the very source of life, his un-failing inspiration to service. Of him it may truly be said, as of some others who have lived the life of our city, that much as he will be missed in other places, the greatest loss is to his church. First among our counselors, the senior in years of service among our deacons, never failing in the full measure of his stewardship—how greatly we shall miss him! His prayers taught us reverence and filial love, and his consistent life, ever tempered with humility we shall always cherish. The pew in our midst which is vacant today speaks how eloquently of his constant presence in the House of God! The aisle through which he is once more to be borne—how often he has trod it! bringing gifts to the altar, or carrying forth the bread and the wine in remembrance of his Saviour and Lord.

Friends, we are near the end of an era. The pioneer generation is passing, how fast away! Beginning, perhaps with the day when Artemas W. Stearns was borne in burial from this church, until now, how many have fallen out of the front ranks of the city's strongest and best men! Clark and Chamberlain, Cabot and Kidder, Eaton and Knowles, Herrick and Whitney—and the many whom these do but suggest.

Men and brethren, you who are the successors of these elders and are now in the front ranks of our city's life, upon whom is the heaviest burden of the day, are you ready to see that we suffer no detriment? Will you carry on their work and perfect it, in church and school, in business life and in philanthropy, in public government and private charities? Is it a day when the noble-minded pledge themselves by the faith and life of the fathers.

It happens that the outward monuments to the memory of our beloved friend are to be the two buildings now added to our city—the bank which is just completed, and the schoolhouse which will bear his name cut in granite over the doors. There is another memorial which might well be perpetuated among the youth of our city. The prizes which he established and which are annually given to the High school, are bestowed under unique conditions. They go not necessarily to the best scholar, but to the one having the highest marks, but to him or her who, in the judgment of fellow-pupils and of the teachers has made best use of the High school course. The "Good Prize" has come to be the one most coveted because esteemed most honorable. It was an unconscious recognition of his own principle of living to have established the prizes in this fashion. It comes to me, as his life passes in review before us, that in the greater school of the world, from which he is now graduated into life eternal, he has won his own prize—not in comparison with others, but in comparison with the failures and weaknesses men exhibit in view of their own powers. Surely he has made the most of his life. He has been true to his birth, to his traditions and training, to his gifts and opportunities. He has won from his fellow men an award of those who loved him in his name. If we could we would pin such a badge of honor upon his breast. Let it be said of him hereafter, as often as the Hood prizes are bestowed, that he who established them lived himself up to the fine standard which they require, and that he did so he went down to his grave in fullness of honors as of years.

His life has been like unto a long day, with one great shadow in it, but the sun has ever shone out bright and clear, and though its decline has been so fast at the last it sets in a clear sky and the afterglow will long remain.

Yea, saith the spirit for they rest from the labors and their works do follow them.

"I know not now" was exquisitely rendered by Miss Wither. A prayer by Rev. Mr. Page, a closing selection by the quartet, and the blessing by the pastor, brought the services to an end. While Miss Easton played softly and sweetly, on the organ, the large congregation passed silently before the bier, taking farewell of the deceased. Among those who paid tribute were the directors and officers of the Lawrence banks, the Lawrence Bar association, headed by Judge A. C. Stone, Col. John P. Sweeney, Mr. William F. Moyes, J. J. Macdonald, A. E. Sanborn, Register of Deeds, Thomas E. Delaney, John J. Bradley, John C. Sanborn, and John J. Donovan; Principal J. H. Horne of the High school, Mayor C. F. Lynch, Hon. John Breen, and other members of the school board, Supt. of Schools B. N. Sheridan, William Oswald, David Kelly, ex-City Treasurer Edward P. Poor, ex-City Treasurer William H. Russell, W. A. Whitney, G. M. F. Everett, ex-City Treasurer Walter R. Rowe, E. N. Winslow, John L. Brewster, Rev. William E. Gibbs, Ex-Mayor Lewis P. Collins, Hon. William S. Knox, Postmaster Byron Trull, Thomas Scott, Thomas H. Conway, Dr. O. Howe, Walter Walworth, and J. S. Howe of Methuen. The mourners came last, preceded by the ushers, W. E. Rowell, Fred N. Chandler, H. E. Sherman, Frank M. Andrew, Charles Stone and D. M. Spence. Then the casket was removed, and was soon on its way to the last resting place on the hillside whence so many who gave of their life and character for the city which they loved.

Clinton O. Andrews acted as funeral director. The floral display was arranged by R. C. Thornton of Thornton Bros. Two great bunches of English violets marked the pew Mr. Hood had occupied as a member of Trinity congregation.

Sick Blood

Feed pale girls on Scott's Emulsion.

We do not need to give all the reasons why Scott's Emulsion restores the strength and flesh and color of good health to those who suffer from sick blood.

The fact that it is the best preparation of Cod Liver Oil, rich in nutrition, full of healthy stimulation is a suggestion as to why it does what it does.

Scott's Emulsion presents Cod Liver Oil at its best, fullest in strength, least in taste.

Young women in their "teens" are permanently cured of the peculiar disease of the blood which shows itself in paleness, weakness and nervousness, by regular treatment with Scott's Emulsion.

It is a true blood food and is naturally adapted to the cure of the blood sickness from which so many young women suffer.

We will be glad to send a sample to any sufferer.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

NOTICE
Having been informed by parties on the island, that the prevailing prices on Chinese and Japanese Mattings are not likely to remain as their present comparatively low standard on account of the trouble in the Far East, we have made a large purchase of the same; one shipment of which has already reached us, the balance to follow as soon as delivery can be made. And we now offer for sale a good assortment in all grades, ranging in price from 12 1/2 cents per yard.

We also wish to state that having secured a good connection in carpet lines, we are prepared to take orders for carpeting at prices which cannot be discounted anywhere. In addition to the above, we might say that we are in a better position than ever to handle all work connected with our regular business, such as Carpet Cleaning and Laying, Furniture Upholstering and Repairing, new awnings and old awnings repaired and put up, etc.

ANALYSIS OF CURRENT EVENTS

COMMERCE and INDUSTRY

Industrial.

Irish Exodus to America.

The British press is deploring the continued rush of Irish and Cornish emigrants to America. Over 22,000 have left Ireland alone during the present year. At present they are leaving at the rate of 2,000 a week. The rate is proportionately high in Cornwall, where the mining industry is practically dead.

Grasshoppers Threaten Kansas.

The big, voracious alfalfa grasshopper which did considerable damage to the vegetation of Kansas during the past summer is threatening that great grain state with a worse scourge next year. This fear is based on the discovery of many eggs laid by the hoppers this fall. If the winter should be mild they are expected to produce a vast destructive army. The hopper is three and a half inches long and half an inch across the chest. All sorts of devices have already been used to head off the pest, the coming of which is said to be due to the killing off of quail and other insect birds.

Erie to Electrify a Section.

The managers of the Erie railroad have about decided upon a plan for the electrification of the suburban service throughout New Jersey at an expense of $30,000,000.

A Coal Trust in Spain.

F. W. Mahin, the American consul at Nottingham, England, has information to the effect that a coal trust is in formation in Spain with the object of cutting out the English producers. The plan is to combine all the coal mines of Spain under one management, with a capital of $40,000,000, hoping to increase the total output.

Responsibility for Train Wrecks.

In its editorial dealing with last year's terrible record of railway accidents in the United States the Railway Age says it is possible to avoid all train accidents, but adds that the requirements for such a system would not be tolerated by the American public. It finds two things primarily responsible for our railway fatalities—namely, "the demoralization in discipline incident to the labor union movement, and the lack of proper signaling equipment." In addition to this, the responsibility of the public is pointed out for demanding fast trains and unlimited facilities on the one hand and low rates on the other. It is admitted that as a people we are careless in our regard for human life, but "the railways are neither better nor worse than the people they serve." The main conclusion of this railroad authority is that the first step toward reform lies in better discipline secured by relaxing the hold of labor unions and that the second step lies in the improvement of the plan of better signaling.

Labor.

Auto Drivers to Organize.

The organizers of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters have begun to form unions composed of automobile drivers who operate business vehicles. The movement, which started at New York, is being carried on in all the larger cities of the country.

Fall River Mills to Resume.

The owners of the Fall River (Mass.) cotton mills refused last week to entertain the proposition made by the Textile Council for an investigation of the ability of the mills to pay the old rate of wages. At the same time the manufacturers voted to reopen their mills on Monday morning, Nov. 14. This ends the sixteenth week of the strike, and earnest efforts have been made to induce the operatives to return.

Labor Conditions in Germany.

That wages of adult laborers range from 24 cents a day to 83 cents a day in different parts of Germany for a ten or twelve hour day is the statement made in a book just issued by the secretary of the Teamsters' union at Dresden. Notwithstanding this, the cost of the necessities of life and rents are as high as in the United States.

Falling Wages in England.

Consul General Evans, at London, England, notes the issuance of the eleventh annual report of a British board of trade showing changes in the wages and hours of labor in the United Kingdom. The report shows that over a million workers had experienced a decrease in wages during the last fiscal year. In 78 per cent of the cases wage changes were effected by arbitration.

Commercial.

Election Boomed Trade.

The Republican cyclone made a high water trade of stock transactions Nov. 9. Shares were dealt in to the number of 2,329,748, and $3,977,500 in bonds changed hands. Prices ruled higher all along the line.

Rockefellers in Atchison.

It was stated at Los Angeles Nov. 10 that John D. Rockefeller and James Stillman had bought $25,000,000 worth of Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe.

Crusade of the Oleo Trust.

Secretary Treasurer George W. Russell of the recently organized National Oleomargarine association admits that an aggressive national campaign has been begun for the repeal of the Groat bill, which imposed a 10 cents a pound tax on colored "oleo." He says that the great packing houses of the west as well as the local dealers are enlisted and are sending in contributions.

EDUCATIONAL

Nurse Training at Harvard.

Under the instruction of President Eliot, Dr. Alfred Worcester has been investigating methods of training for nurses in Europe before taking charge of a college for nurses which Harvard is about to establish. This will be the first college of its kind in connection with a university. A four year course is to be provided. The students, besides hearing lectures and studying text books, will gain experience by practice in private homes with private patients as well as in hospital wards.

Fire Drill Saves School Children.

The value of fire drills in general and especially the efficiency of the drill in the New York city schools was demonstrated when fire attacked School No. 17, in Forty-seventh street, Nov. 9, during school hours. In perfect order the 2,500 pupils were marched out of the burning building. They ranged in ages from five to fourteen. In about two minutes the building was clear.

"Tech" to Join Harvard.

It is announced at Boston that the proposed educational alliance between Harvard university and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology has been definitely agreed upon. Neither of the institutions is expected to sacrifice its independence, as the separate faculties and administrations would continue. The main thing about the alliance is that all of the industrial sciences would be taught by "Tech," while the courses in liberal arts and pure sciences would be taught by the Harvard faculty.

SOCIOLOGICAL

Miss Gould Reforms the Pike.

On request of Helen Gould, the lady managers and the national commission of the Louisiana Purchase exposition have expelled from the Pike objectionable features and solicitors. A number of acts in the theaters have been stopped or toned down.

Women Against Trade Schools.

The action of the New York Federation of Women's Clubs in electing Mrs. Philip Carpenter as president in place of Mrs. Dore Lyon last week was due in part to the opposition to

Mrs. Lyon's project for the establishment of a trades school for girls.

The Women's Poison Habit.

The Twentieth Century club of Boston at the suggestion of Edward Atkinson has begun a movement for legislation to enforce publicity regarding the contents of the so called patent medicines. Commenting on this action, the Woman's Journal says that women are the chief patrons of these poisonous patent medicines in the shape of tonics for themselves and soothing syrups for their infants. It testifies that even earnest workers in women's societies destroy their nerves with drugs more deadly than the drams they deprecate. Under specious names in thousands of drug stores "women who shrink with horror from a saloon imbibe 'medicines' far more deadly than 'drinks' at ten times more exorbitant prices and wreck their health and homes without knowing what they are doing." The proposed law is similar to one now rigidly enforced in both France and Germany.

Edward Atkinson.

Another Church Saloon.

Under the patronage of the Rev. G. A. Morrill, pastor of the People's church of Minneapolis, that city is to rival the Subway tavern at New York by having a church, theater and saloon all in one building.

SCIENTIFIC

Arsenic in Clothing.

During a recent investigation at the department of agriculture concerning the amount of arsenic used in coloring wall papers and clothing, several samples of stockings were found to be heavily charged with the poison. Black stockings seem to contain a larger amount of the drug than colored stockings.

Antirheumatism Serum.

A curative serum for articular rheumatism is said to have been discovered by a Dr. Menzer of Halle. He has become convinced that the disease is caused by a streptococcus which enters the organism through the lungs.

Against X Rays For Cancer.

The proposed Oncologic hospital at Philadelphia for the treatment and study of cancer and other tumors is not to use the X ray treatment. The specialists in charge say it is generally admitted now that the X ray treatment is futile and dangerous to patient and operator alike. The latest case of X ray poisoning is that of Dr. Louis A. Weigel of Rochester, N. Y., who had to have his right hand and a part of his left amputated on account of the growth of a cancer caused by frequent use of the X rays. While Dr. Weigel is said to be improving, there is no certainty about the outcome. Only a few weeks ago occurred the death of Mr. Edison's assistant, Clarence Dailley, from similar causes.

Size of Known Universe.

Inquiring into the extent of the universe, Professor Simon Newcomb, our foremost astronomer, writes in Harper's Magazine that nearly all the stars which we can see with our telescopes are "contained within a sphere not likely to be much more than 200,000,000 times the distance of the sun." As to there being stars without limit beyond our radius of vision, Professor Newcomb does not pretend to know, but the fact that the stars of each order of magnitude are not found to increase in uniform ratio favors the conclusion that stars are not scattered through all space equally.

Recreative Sports

Lou Dillon Regains Laurels.

The world famous trotting mare Lou Dillon, whose record was lowered recently by Major Delmar, was driven by her trainer, Millard Sanders, at Memphis, Nov. 8, a mile in 2:01½ without aid of pacemaker ahead or wind shield. This is the record made by Major Delmar, who was formally crowned king of trotters on the New York speedway.

Oldfield Auto Champion.

Since the recent victory of Barney Oldfield in the ten mile automobile race at Yonkers, N. Y., against Bernin, Sartori and Thery, the road racing champions of Europe, the American driver has been regarded as the world's auto champion. Oldfield covered the ten miles from standing start in the record time of 6 minutes 12 3/5 seconds.

Auto Boat Mile Record.

The fastest time ever made in the world by an auto boat over a nautical mile was credited to the Ontario, owned by H. B. Moore of the Atlantic Yacht club of New York, which went the mile on the Hudson in 2 minutes and 28 seconds. This is at the rate of 28.36 statute miles an hour.

All Stuffed Up

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

No wonder catarrh causes headache, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite.

To cure catarrh, treatment must be constitutional—alterative and tonic. "I was afflicted with catarrh. I took medicines of different kinds, giving each a fair trial; but gradually grew worse until I could hardly hear, taste or smell. I then concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking five bottles I was cured and have not had any return of the disease since." EUGENE FORBES, Lebanon, Kan.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cures catarrh—it soothes and strengthens the mucous membrane and builds up the whole system.

METHUEN.

Harry Farnsworth of Centre street is recovering from his recent illness.

The second degree was worked at the meeting of Hope lodge, I. O. O. F., last night.

Routine matters were attended to at the regular meeting of the school board last night.

Miss Emma Schaefer is ill at her home on Lippold street in the East part of the town.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Johnson of Malden spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives in town.

The entertainment for the Thursday evening meeting of Methuen Grange, F. of H., is unannounced.

Charles C. Rowe has sold about 34 acres of land on Maple street, Methuen, to Emma I. Perkins.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Otis N. Trussell Saturday at the family home on Oakland avenue, Methuen.

The Whatsoever chapter of King's Daughters of the western part of the town expect to begin their winter meetings soon.

John Broadhead, the local candy manufacturer, who broke his ankle, recently, is reported to be getting along very nicely.

Rev. J. W. Adams of this town was one of the speakers at the neighborhood convention of Methodists in Merrimacport today.

Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Whiton of Cambridge, were guests at the dinner of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Closson on Union street, Saturday and Sunday.

Frank J. Breton was before Judge Rogers yesterday in local police court and was sent up for 30 days on charge of vagrancy. He was found sleeping in the East school building.

A number of members of Kearsarge lodge, K. of P., attended the meeting of W. B. Gale lodge of Lawrence last night when a reception was tendered visitors from Somerville.

The Ladies' Social union of the Universalist church will hold a meeting at the residence of Mrs. W. R. Libby at 4 Central street, this evening, at 7:30 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

GADUOL.

The United States dispensary thinks it probable that the real virtues of cod-liver oil reside in an active principle or principles. Gadulol is the alcoholic extract of the active principles of cod-liver oil. It produces a stimulant and nutritive effect on the processes of nutrition and absorption, it does not disturb the appetite or affect the stomach. A wine of cod-liver oil prepared from Gadulol is a favorite tonic and has a large sale wherever introduced.

The Cod Wine advertised in another column meets the above requirements. It is for sale by Albert W. Lowe, druggist.

VISITED EAST LYNN LODGE.

A large number of the members of Hope lodge, 34, I. O. O. F., went to East Lynn Tuesday night to pay a fraternal visit to East Lynn lodge, 297, I. O. O. F. The party left Methuen in special train shortly before 7 o'clock. Upon their arrival at East Lynn they were met at the station by about 150 members of East Lynn lodge, and, with a drum corps furnishing music, were escorted to the lodge rooms.

The second degree was conferred upon 10 candidates by Hope lodge, after which supper was served. Remarks were made by Mayor Eastman of Lynn, Postmaster Sanderson of Lynn, J. W. Perkins of East Lynn, and these from Hope lodge: James O. Parker, P. G.; Granville Foss, P. G.; Jesse J. Prescott, P. G.; John Ostler, P. G.; Winfred R. Nowell, N. G.; George A. Brown, V. G., and Charles R. Bower, P. G.

The supper was served by an able corps of ladies of the Rebekah lodge of East Lynn.

The ceremonies were brought to a successful close by all singing "Good Night Ladies," and "Auld Lang Syne." Three hearty cheers were given for East Lynn before the local men departed.

The members of Hope lodge are highly pleased with the manner in which they were entertained. The members arrived home about 1 o'clock.

Near the front a man groans in deep distress. "Repent!" shouts the evangelist. "Repent and be at ease!" The man rises to his feet irresolutely.

"I am sorry," he falters, "that I ate the mince pie for dinner."—Puck.

FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

Mr. Arthur Chapman writing from Durban, Natal, South Africa, says: "As a proof that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a cure suitable for old and young, I pen you the following: A neighbor of mine had a child just over two months old. It had a very bad cough and the parents did not know what to give it. I suggested that if they would get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and put some upon the dummy teat the baby was sucking it would no doubt cure the child. This they did and brought about a quick relief and cured the baby." This remedy is for sale by all druggists, Lawrence; W. A. Allen, Andover; C. H. Shattuck, Ballardvale.

FAMILY RESCUED FROM BURNING BUILDING.

An alarm from box 54 at 3.50 o'clock Sunday afternoon, called a fire department to 155 Chestnut street.

Prompt work on the part of the firemen saved the cottage, but not until considerable damage had been done. The property was owned by Lewis H. Schwartz and occupied by the families of Thomas H. Early and Joseph Herwick. There was no insurance.

The blaze was discovered by Patrolman Timothy McCarthy, who in making his rounds saw the flames shoot forth from the kitchen window. Quickly dispatching a young man standing near, to pull in the alarm, the officer devoted his attention to putting out the fire. Mrs. Early and her two children, who occupy the first floor, got out the mother, whose hair was singed and her face burned.

JOHN M. STEWART, Manager. SHERWOOD A. LEE, Steward.

The Presidential Election of 1904

The American ship of state has been commissioned for another four year voyage with Theodore Roosevelt as captain and the Republican party as his well disciplined officers and crew. The people willed it thus with a popular plurality of over 2,000,000 ballots Nov. 8 in an election full of political surprises.

Brooms, landlides, cyclones, floods and tidal waves have been worked overtime since that fateful day by the able phrase mongers of the press in an effort to express adequately the size of this victory for the Republican party. Although confident of winning, the Republicans themselves say they did not expect such enormous gains. In the hour of his supreme triumph the president and president elect delivered a master stroke of true strategy by explicitly saying he would neither seek nor accept another presidential nomination. This makes for cheerful acquiescence of the minority elements. The overwhelming defeat of the "safe, sane and conservative" candidate in the name of the Democracy, together with the surprisingly large vote cast for the Socialist and Populist candidates, makes certain one of two results—the Democracy will be reorganized with Bryan and his radical allies in full control or the radical elements of that party will be fused into some entirely new and radical organization. Already rumor is busy connecting the names of Hearst, Bryan, Watson and others with such an alignment. Our American sense of humor will hardly grudge Mr. Bryan his sarcastic remark that "surely silver cannot be blamed for this defeat."

Thanksgiving.

When the pumpkin's in the cellar,
And the fiddler's in the b'm;
Then the Governor tells the people
To rest arms and "count their tin."

Tells us all to stop and ponder
On the days now passed and gone;
Count the mercies all around us,
Think of blessings we have won.

While I fain would name the blessings
That are thick upon my list,
'Chance the best way to record them,
Is to count the ones I've missed.

There's a waiting room I wanted,
But I'm waiting for it yet;
And the Park and boys' playstead,
On them, long my heart's been set.

There's that gym for youth and children;
Some time folks won't laugh at that;
Wag their heads and say "he's crazy,"
He's just "talking thro' his hat."

Then I've wished that every person,
Young and old within the town;
Wouldn't think that life was shapen,
Just to throw each other down.

There! I know the biggest blessing,
That I'm going to think and feel;
When the turkey's on the platter,
And the pig has ceased to squeal;

'Tis the blessing that the ending
Soon or late is always right;
And to that I'll leave all issues,
My sole part to "keep the fight."

Editorial Cinders.

More than a generation of Andover citizens have come and gone since the first sentence was passed in Andover's police court by Judge Poor. Thirty-eight years ago he received his appointment at the hands of Governor Alexander H. Bullock, and on December first his resignation goes into effect and his successor will be named by Governor Bates. It is far from being the most important function that Judge Poor has performed in Andover during these very important and active years of his life, but as the local administrator of justice he has certainly been a very great factor in maintaining the high standard of law and order which the town has enjoyed. May his successor, as worthily and honorably serve the state and town, and may the lessening of work bring to Judge Poor many years of honored and honorable citizenship.

If there is anyone who hasn't stated his opinions regarding the "whys and wherefores" of the defeat of Andover at football last Saturday, let him rise up and speak at once, for the lists will close at the Anthropology building at nine a. m. Saturday. While it is doubtful if all of those who "know all about it" are given a chance to coach next year's team, there seems to be an excellent prospect that someone else may, other than one whose football knowledge is said to be ancient history. As for last Saturday, it is very clear that the best team won, and that a mighty plucky set of boys were outclassed, out-generalled, and outplayed, with an abundance of honor to cover both teams.

Not all pirates use the high seas for their bases of operations. Some of them even enter beautiful little hill towns like Andover, "far from the madding crowd" (and also far from where they are known), and work their games. And the worst of it is, they don't carry black flags, but sail under bright colors and never show their true stripes until they depart. If there was ever a pirate of the high seas who better deserved to be outlawed than do some of the "confidence men" who have buncoed business men not a thousand miles from here during the past few years, then the dime novels never half told the real tales. For a detailed story, ask your butcher or baker or candlestick maker.

Turkeys are high, but that will not interfere with your making some poorer family happy with some other substantial or delicacy, which will make the Thanksgiving of both giver and receiver more cheerful. If you don't know who, the "Guild" will help by suggestion born of knowledge.

A good citizen has recently remarked, "Now for town politics." We protest. It is four months before the date of the annual March meeting will come around, and Thanksgiving, Christmas, and first of January stock-taking are all lying along the road before that time.

To the small boy: when the ice will bear, wait for another day's freezing. The Andover ponds are quick to freeze and become very inviting with a very light cold snap, but they are none the less treacherous traps in November.

JUDGE POOR RESIGNS

Closes Thirty-Eight Years of Service as Trial Justice by Sending Resignation to Governor Bates.

Judge Poor has sent his resignation of the office of trial justice at Andover, to the governor, the same to take effect Dec. 1. He was appointed thirty-eight years ago by Governor Bullock and succeeded Squire Merrill.

It is understood that Judge Poor's reasons for resigning are solely on account of a constantly increasing business, particularly in his Boston office. His successor has not been selected.

Recital in Punchard Hall.

In Punchard hall last evening a recital was held under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Hoar, instructor in music in the public schools. The artists were Miss Edith E. Torrey, soprano and Miss Grace G. Miles, pianist, both of Boston. The audience was large and appreciative and extended much applause to each of the artists.

Miss Torrey has a fine rich voice with a range of unusual ability. Her rendition of Elsa's Traum (from Lohengrin) was especially fine.

At the piano Miss Miles, who accompanied Miss Torrey, handled the instrument in brilliant style and in her solos was at her best. Her touch at times was light and again volumes of sound would pour forth. Her fingering was marvelous.

Following was the program:

"Primrose deck the bank's green side" Old English
"Pur dices!" Old Italian
"Horo Whairi dhu, Turn ye to me Old Scotch Elsa's Traum (from Lohengrin) Wagner
"Dear love, when in thine arms I lie" Chadwick
"Deserted" Macdowell
"Up to her chamber window" Nevin
Piano Solos—Schutt
Etude Chamade
Scherzade La Tourette Lacombe
"Since we parted" Allaire
"Out in the open meadow" Stewart
"Viens, mon bien aime" Chamade
"My Balmie" James Rogers
"Near in the forest" Winthrop Rogers
"The Lark" Horatio Parker

After the recital many of the audience met the artists.

Brown Tail Moths.

A meeting of the A. V. I. S. (was held in the School committee rooms in the Town hall on Monday evening when an interesting discussion on the brown tail moth took place and methods of exterminating the pest were presented by different members. The meeting was held chiefly for the purpose of creating interest in the movement in Andover and it is hoped that all property owners will make a special effort to aid the society in its work against the moths.

In the near future the society hopes to have a speaker on this subject present to the citizens of the town the danger in letting the pest continue its ravages and will present several ways of getting rid of them. One member told of the good work which is being done in North Andover by an expert climber, whom it was thought could be secured for work in this town.

Police Court.

On Tuesday evening a man from Boston was fined $20 by Judge Poor for gaming on the Sabbath. The arrest was made by Game Warden Clemmons near the Lowell junction station.

Robert Edmonds, a youth from Reading, was arrested by Chief Frye on Wednesday evening, for disturbance on an electric car coming from Lawrence. Edmonds, with other young men had been playing football in Methuen during the afternoon and were returning to their homes. They were all more or less noisy but Edmonds seemed to be the leader. He was fined $10 by Judge Poor last evening.

LARGE SHIPMENTS OF DEER AND MOOSE FROM MAINE.

Promising Outlook for November. The hunting season thus far has been unusually prolific. Hundreds of deer have already been shipped from the Maine woods; and the general report from this state is that not only deer, but moose, are more plentiful than for several seasons past. The Bangor and Aroostook region leads in the shipment, but in almost every portion of Maine's wilderness at all distant from civilization the sportsman is sure to bag his legal allotment of two deer.

November is an idea month for hunting, and the outlook promises an extra heavy output. The Boston and Maine General Passenger Department, Boston, issues a beautiful illustrated booklet called "Fishing and Hunting," which will be mailed to any address upon receipt of two cents in stamps. This booklet gives all requisite information regarding the fishing and hunting region and how to get there. A condensed booklet, giving the fish and game laws of Northern New England and Canada will be mailed free.

Split up your Christmas money by having some photographs made. You couldn't do it to better advantage. A photograph is something that a friend is always glad to receive—especially if it is made at the Sherman Studio. Business is increasing right along. You know what that means.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL

Boston Rovers 3, Andover 2.

The Boston Rovers defeated Andover in a well played football game last Saturday, by a score of 3 to 2. Both teams were strong and were about evenly matched, both on offense and defense, although the winners were favored slightly in weight.

Twice Andover failed to score on penalty kicks, thus losing chances to score easy goals and incidentally to win the game. Andover's backs put up a great game as did the goal keeper.

The Andover association football team will go to Quincy tomorrow to compete with the strong team of that city. The following team will represent Andover: Goal, Hughes; backs, Hudson; W. Matthews, Sterling, Haddon, R. Anderson; forwards, Falconer, E. Anderson, Munroe, Dawson, Lawn.

Grangers Visit North Andover.

On Wednesday evening many members of the Andover Grange went to North Reading and instituted a grange in that town. The local Grangers were conveyed in barges furnished by Ammon P. Richardson and on arriving at the hall were greeted by instigators of the movement and many friends anxious to join the fraternity.

The lodge was formed by the officers of the local Grange, who filled the chairs, and 85 members were initiated. This is considered by local Patrons to be a large number of charter members and the outlook for a successful society is assured.

After the instituting exercises were over officers were elected and were installed by State Deputy Herrick and Mrs. Herrick. A supper, prepared by members of the newly formed lodge, was then tendered the local lodge and a social hour followed.

The party then took the barges for home and arrived here during the early morning hours.

Among those who attended were: Charles L. Bailey, Mrs. S. Gilman Bailey, Ralph Bailey, Alma Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Averill, Robert A. Watson, Joseph Lovejoy, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Clark, J. E. The Coming Ball.

One of the most important events in the social life of the town each year is the annual firemen's entertainment and ball. It was instituted thirty-three years ago and without a break has afforded much pleasure, not only to local firemen and friends, but to hundreds of visitors from out of town.

Last year a new departure was made from the old custom of having a supper and ball, a concert being added and this proved an added attraction.

This year another plan will be tried inasmuch as there will be no supper served. In the past few years the suppers have not been very successful and much dissatisfaction has been the result. The committee in charge of this year's ball deemed it wise to drop the supper for this year at least. There will be, however, refreshments consisting of ice cream, cake, coffee, sandwiches, etc. for sale in the lower town hall by T. E. Rhodes during the entire evening.

The hall opens at 7.30 and the entertainment will begin promptly at 7.45. It will be given by F. H. Howard of Boston and will consist of stereopticon pictures illustrated by songs.

At nine sharp the grand march will commence and dancing follow until one o'clock. Sets are to be formed at the stroke of the gong. It is expected that guests will be present from North Andover, Reading, Lawrence, Methuen, Wakefield, Malden, Haverhill and other places.

St. Joseph's Fair.

St. Joseph's Fair will open in Bradley hall, Ballardvale, on next Wednesday evening. It will close on Friday evening with a drawing of articles and decision of contests. A good entertainment will be given on each of the three evenings. Refreshments will be served. Thursday afternoon for children—admission free.

Obituary.

MRS. DORCAS ABBOT CLARK.

The passing away of Mrs. Dorcas Abbot Clark last Tuesday morning removes one of the true gentlewomen of Andover whom many will greatly miss. The old Abbot house near the railroad bridge on the Ballardvale road, famous for its age and for its hospitality was the place of her birth and of her death, and there the most of her eighty-six years were spent.

She was one of the early pupils in Abbot Academy and later for several years was a valued assistant in the household of Prof. John L. Taylor. Her marriage with Deacon Thomas Clark in 1867 gave her eight years of happy life in her husband's home until his death in 1875. Again in Prof. Taylor's home, and in the household of friends in Beverly, Malden and Andover, Mrs. Clark found use for her helpful ministries until she came back to her birthplace to spend her declining years. In early life she united with the South church, but soon after her marriage transferred her relationship to the Free church, of which she remained a devoted member for the rest of her days.

Two years ago last June, her eighty-fourth birthday was celebrated by a reception in the family home. Many friends were glad to avail themselves of the opportunity to express their warm regard for her and will never forget the hearty welcome and old time courtesies with which she greeted each guest.

On her last birthday, just five months before her death, she stood among the receiving friends at the wedding reception of her nephew, Mr. Stanley A. Pratt and his bride.

In the enjoyment of all her faculties able to share in the household duties until within a few days of the end, deeply interested in the affairs of home and of the community, happy in the companionship of her dear ones "soothed and sustained by an unfaltering trust." She came to the day of her departure as to a "greater birthday" on which she entered into truer life and came into possession of the eternal inheritance of the children of God.

Her long life was a blessing to the community. Gentle in her disposition, yet firm in her convictions, strong in her affections, keenly appreciative of the good, the true, the beautiful, wherever found, wise in judgment, kind, charitable, unselfish, generous in her relations with others with heart responsive to her fellowmen and to her God, she manifested in a marked degree as the controlling motive of her life that love which Prof. Henry Drummond called "The Greatest Thing in the World."

The earth is poorer for her absence but in the sorrow of our loss we are cheered by the memory of her life and by the assurance that she has gained "The freer step, the fuller breath, The wide horizon's grander view, The sense of life that knows no death, The life that maketh all things new."

Of the eight brothers and sisters in Mrs. Clark's family only two are left, Timothy Abbot and Miss Hannah Abbot in whose heart-satisfying companionship she passed her closing days. Other near relatives are the children of her brother, Hartwell Abbot, and Mrs. T. F. Pratt, and the children of her husband, Mrs. Benjamin Farnham of Lynn, Joseph Clark of Boston and Jesse Clark of Andover.

The funeral service of Mrs. Clark was held at her late home on Wednesday afternoon. The pastor of the Free church read appropriate Scripture and offered prayer, Prof. John Phelps Taylor, out of a friendship of sixty years, spoke tender and eloquent words of appreciation, and Miss Mabel Carter sang "There shall be resting, after the weary day," and "There is no night in heaven." The burial was in the family lot in the South cemetery, where Rev. F. A. Wilson conducted a brief committal service.

Address of Prof. Taylor.

In the presence of the beloved dead the words of the Psalmist rush into mind. "The righteous shall flourish like the palm-tree—they shall bring forth fruit in old age." Mrs. Clark was like the palm-tree, in her commanding stature and moral rectitude. Like the palm-tree she was still more, in her ample fruitfulness and usefulness. There were fruits of the Spirit in a gentleness all her own. There was an Indian summer at the last. A mellowness, a tolerance, a graciousness, not of earth, invested her, ere God called her to Himself.

Mrs. Clark was of ancient and honorable lineage, connected with the founders of the town. She had a New England conscience, sensitive and supreme. Her interest in her studies and her school was lively and her speaking face was not wanting at the dedication of Abbot's new building at its seventy-fifth anniversary. Early responsibilities and associations linked her long ago with the Abbot professor on the hill. "The polite of men" she called him once to me. Not more so than she. A lady to her finger-tips she approved herself to all who knew her.

When the storm-cloud of the rebellion burst, she was a patriot second to none.

Others might be sluggards; she loved labor, in the spirit of him who said "my Father worketh hitherto and I work." Others might live abroad. To her home was the "one plank rescued out of the wreck of Paradise." Her heart went out to father and mother, brother and sister and in due time to husband and husband's children and grandchildren.

Others might lift the newspaper or the club to the sky. She loved the church as the body, the bride of Christ and rejoiced in its services, sacraments, sermons and fellowship as divine.

More than most she had a genius for friendship. A boy, of fifty years ago, sent her this summer, through me, a message of gratitude for kindness fresh to him as yesterday. Young girls idolized her, as she idolized them. Her unselfish thoughtfulness and genial sympathy knit her to her neighborhood with hooks of steel. Her loyalty to duty was most human. She never forgot or forsook a sister. Thanksgiving and Christmas breathed a warmer glow for the presence of this sweet and beloved saint.

"With long life will I satisfy him and show him my salvation," said the Almighty of a good man. It was fulfilled in our friend, when he fell asleep. We are apt to think of death under the terms of its shadow and terror, its flutter, chill, loss, anguish, loneliness, blankness. It is the massive lugubrious, inexorable door of the shrines of Nikko under the sighing cypresses. We are wrong. Death, to the believer, is the gate of everlasting life. Better and truer the words of the great Resurrection chapter, so familiar to our friend, "the sting of death is sin and the strength of sin is the law, but thanks be to God, who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

Tenderly yet triumphantly we praise the Master in His disciple, whose mortality has been swallowed up of life. Oh that we may follow her, as far as she followed Christ.

"Hill climbed in light forever we see Him face to face."

COMMUNICATION

"Speak of me as I am;
Not set down aught in malice"

To the Editor of the Townsman:

Dear Sir:—His Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury has shown himself to be a modest Christian, gentleman and by his visit to us has verified the truth of his Scottish descent by embodying the sentiment of the ploughman poet.

"The rag is but the guinea's stamp
The man's the gold for a' that."

It is simply ludicrous to read the nonsense some of the Boston papers print about the Episcopal archbishop— "The primates of Great Britain," "The head of the English church," etc.

Episcopacy is the church of England in the sense that it is the church established by the law. All Englishmen are not Episcopalians. There are a few millions that have their own dissenting places of worship. Then as to Britain, when His Grace goes to Scotland, he is only a dissenter. The Presbyterian church is the state church there. While in Ireland since Gladstone made all churches equal so far as state aid and control are concerned, His Grace would be just the good man he is, namely the Archbishop of Canterbury. It may interest our Episcopal friends to note that Queen Victoria when residing in Scotland always went to the Presbyterian church and on Communion days partook of the bread and wine.

I cried out "I thank thee, Jew, for learning me that word" when I read that the Archbishop at Trinity church "pontificated the Eucharist."

If the Episcopal church is ashamed of her name it is a pity. Her chaste, dignified and beautiful service has won the hearts of many of our people and we never forget that in the wide lawn sleeves of her clergy they have always had a place to hold the old gospel. I saw it reported that the Bishops who were visiting us are quite pleased with the warm welcome they got from Christians of other creeds. I wonder if Episcopacy was established by law here and an education bill passed on model of last one in England, whether other denominations would have been so kindly to the good bishops.

We have been launching some ships lately; why is the ceremony of naming the vessel called christening? Some journals call it baptizing; to me baptizing has nothing to do with a name, and to speak of christening a ship or making it a Christian is simply absurd. Just say the girl broke the bottle of good wine and named the ship and we have called a spade a spade and not an agricultural implement.

CASE TAKEN FROM JURY

Suit of Hill vs. Smith & Dove Manufacturing Co.
Breaks Down.

The trial of the case of James Hill of Bradford, Eng., against Peter D. Smith of the Smith & Dove Manufacturing company of Andover, was resumed in superior civil court Tuesday. The trial opened Monday afternoon.

In an action of contract the plaintiff seeks $10,000 damages. Hill claims that he entered into an agreement with the defendant, who is treasurer of the Smith & Dove mills, to purchase the Frye village plant of the company, paying $1000 down and promising to pay $11,500 within fourteen days, and that before the final payment was made he found out that the plant had been sold to the American DeGreasings company. He says he made a tender of the balance of the sale price, but that it was refused by the mill authorities, who tendered to him his original payment of $1000. Hill bases his claim for damages on the allegation that he was given to understand that he had purchased the property and that the deed would be given to him at the end of fourteen days, when he paid the balance, and that in consequence of that understanding he entered into possession of the property and removed a large quantity of wool tops belonging to him, which were in storage at the Arlington mills, to the Frye village property. He seeks to be reimbursed for moving the wool to the mill and for taking it away after the property was decided to the American DeGreasings company. It was sold to him for $12,500 and he claims that it has a market value of $15,000 and $20,000.

The suit was originally brought against the Smith & Dove Manufacturing company, but the action could not be maintained against the corporation for no transfer of real estate belonging to the corporation could be made without the vote of the stockholders, and in this instance the stockholders not only did not vote to ratify the sale but voted not to authorize the sale to Mr. Hill. When this action became known to the plaintiff an amended declaration was filed against the defendant, the corporation was discontinued and the action proceeded against Peter D. Smith alone. Mr. Hill claiming that Mr. Smith represented to him that he had authority to make the sale.

The defense is that Mr. Hill was well aware that the sale hinged on the vote of the stockholders and that the final payment was put off 14 days to await action by the stockholders. Mr. Smith claims that neither the plaintiff, nor his agent, Henry H. Tankard, was mistaken in the negotiations. He simply signed a receipt for $1000, which was advanced, by Mr. Hill with the distinct understanding that no deed would be turned over unless the stockholders approved the sale.

Mr. Tankard testified that Mr. Hill instructed him to purchase mill property in America, that he learned that the Frye village mill was for sale and after an inspection decided that it was suitable. He wrote to Mr. Hill, who was in England, and the latter came over in May 1902, examined the property and decided to purchase if satisfactory terms could be made. Mr. Tankard says that he went to the mill with real estate men and had a conference with the manager, John W. Bell, as a result of which an agreement was drawn up whereby he was to advance $1000 and pay the balance in 14 days when he would get the deed. He had previously ascertained that the title was satisfactory. After the agreement had been drawn up Treasurer Smith said, gave him a receipt for the $1000. The reason the final payment was delayed for fourteen days he said, was because he told Mr. Bell that he had to go to Philadelphia. He said that he understood that the stockholders would have to ratify the sale, but that he was given to understand that they would act favorably.

Peter D. Smith testified that he distinctly stated, not to Mr. Tankard, but in his presence, that of course there could be no sale without the consent of the stockholders. This was at the time he signed the receipt for $1000. He denied that he in any way tried to mislead Mr. Hill or Mr. Tankard. He simply knew that the stockholders had voted to sell the property, that negotiations were going on with intending purchasers and that finally the stockholders voted to sell to the American DeGreasings company. He declared that he was not trying to sell the property to two people or that he said anything that would deceive the plaintiff or give him to understand that he had authority to sell the property.

Before he had completed his testimony Mr. Tankard changed the statement he had made on cross-examination to the effect that he knew a meeting of the stockholders would have to be held to ratify the sale. He said that what he had intended to convey was the idea that he considered the sale being effected when the $1000 was paid and the agreement signed, but that he supposed the stockholders might have to meet for the purpose of designating someone to sign the deed. He admitted that the apparent discrepancy in his testimony had been called to his attention since Monday by his counsel, but said that his explanation was not suggested by counsel.

Mr. Tankard was visibly affected by the long examination to which he had been subjected and finally said that he could not stand it longer. He was then excused for the time being.

Henry Tongue was then called. He testified that he was present when Mr. Tankard made the $1000 payment and that Mr. Smith did not say anything about it being necessary to hold a meeting of the stockholders to ratify the sale. He gave it as his opinion that the plant was worth from $15,000 to $17,000. Asked as to his understanding about what a corporation must do when conveying real estate, Mr. Tongue said he thought that a general vote to sell was all that was required in the past of such a vote a deed could be given to anybody.

Before further testimony had been offered a settlement was effected between counsel, and the case was drawn from the jury.

Sweeney Dow & Cox appeared for the plaintiff and C. F. Choate represented the defendant.

Abbot Academy Notes.

* The game of field hockey which was to have been played Monday between Bradford and Abbot had to be given up on account of the storm and has been indefinitely postponed because of the lateness of the season. The disappointment on both sides was tempered by the friendly visit of Miss Bouve and the two Bradford teams. The afternoon was spent in dancing in the new gymnasium, which had been decorated with the colors of the two schools. A five o'clock dinner was arranged for the hostesses and their guests, and the dining room was most attractive with yellow Bradford banners, yellow shades and beautiful yellow marguerites in the center of each of the five tables. The place cards were fastened to a miniature hockey stick which will serve as a souvenir of the day.

On Tuesday, Mlle. Marie Louise Camus began her work in the French department. Ever since the resignation of Prof. Morand in the summer of '97, the French classes have been without the inspiration of native French instruction, a lack the more to be regretted because since that date the French students have been in Draper Hall. Unsuccessful attempts have been made to supply this deficiency, but not until now has the school seemed to find the right person for the place. Mlle. Camus was born and educated in Paris, receiving a diploma from the lycée Fenelon. She has been in this country about six weeks, having come to Cambridge and Boston to take up the work left by one of her friends. She has had some experience in teaching English girls, and brings to her work much intelligence, refinement and charm. For the present, Mlle. Camus will be in Andover every Tuesday.

The first of this year's Abbot Academy concerts was given Thursday in the November Club house. Mrs. Ruth Thayer Burnham, a former Bradford pupil of Mr. Downs, was the soloist and her program was a delightful one, charmingly rendered. Mr. Downs bespoke the indulgence of the audience for the singer who was suffering from a sudden laryngitis. Mrs. Burnham was quick to feel the sympathy of her audience and probably to her own astonishment she was able to go through the entire program, giving only the faintest hints at times, to her hearers, of the difficulty under which she was laboring. In fact, the fine control of voice which she displayed was not the least of her excellences. Her versatility was also demonstrated to the satisfaction of all, and the richness of her tones, the sympathetic and the dramatic possibilities of her voice made the concert most refreshing and enjoyable.

A preliminary notice was given last week of the Hon. Chester Holcombe's lecture on the "Ethics of the Japanese-Russian Conflict" or "Which is Right, Japan or Russia?", to be given in Abbot hall on Saturday afternoon, November nineteenth, at half past two o'clock. The tickets are 35 cents.

The Thanksgiving recess begins Tuesday as soon as work is over and lasts until Friday afternoon.

Lecture on Plains Indians.

A lecture on the Plains Indians was given before the members of the Natural History society and their friends in the Archaeology building last evening by Warren K. Moorehead, curator at the building. The lecture was illustrated by stereopticon views of the Indians, ranging within a period of about 50 years.

Mr. Moorehead graphically described the customs, manner of living, etc., of the larger and well known tribes and gave a vivid description of their superstitious practices with the torture to which they subject themselves. Much of this he said was being prohibited by the government.

He told of the cause and result of the Custer massacre, blaming the United States troops for the trouble.

Mr. Moorehead at the close of the lecture answered many questions from the audience making clearer many points of his address.

Phillips Andover was outclassed in the annual championship football game played on Brothers field, Saturday, before 12,000 people, the New Hampshire team winning by a score of 35 to 10.

The Exeter team showed better coaching and better training and in addition they had the advantage in weight. Andover played a plucky game throughout and made a desperate rally in the last of the second half, which resulted in a touchdown, the only time Andover was able to cross the Exeter goal line during the game. Andover's first score had been a goal from the field, kicked by Daley substitute fullback, early in the second half. Exeter's offense was extremely powerful and her six touchdowns were the result of hard, straight football.

The day was an ideal one for the contest and the crowd was the biggest one that ever gathered at an Andover-Exeter game. There was the usual school spirit shown by the supporters of the two teams. School songs were sung and the rival cheers repeatedly rent the air. The stands were gay with blue and crimson banners. Many alumni of the two academies were among the spectators.

The Exeter forwards got the jump on Andover, and having an advantage in weight, were able to make big holes for the backs when Exeter had the ball and to break through on to the Andover backs when Andover had the ball. The Exeter players dragged the backs along, and every man was in every play. The Andover team work was poor on the other hand and the only redeeming feature of Andover's play was the individual work of Capt. Thompson, Bullock, Hobbs, Bartholomew, Brown, Schildmiller and Daley.

T. Jones, Exeter's quarterback, proved to be a clever general, and he got the plays off with remarkable speed, while Hart proved to be the best ground gainer. Cooney and H. Jones also did excellent work for Exeter behind the line.

Exeter made most of her gains through the left side of the Andover line, Raymond giving way to Leighton and the latter finally laying to retire in favor of Lynn, so vicious was the Exeter attack at that point.

Capt. Thompson of Andover played the game of his life. In the first few minutes of the game he outclassed his opponent, Capt. MacFayden of Exeter, and it looked as though the latter would be easy for the remainder of the game. Thompson, however, was soon forced to play three positions instead of one, his center's quarterback position being practically useless.

Into every scrimmage went Thompson, down under the heap he dove, and his great strength robbed Exeter of several good opportunities to score.

A bad blow before the first touchdown almost forced him to leave the field, but he refused to go and returned to the fight determined to play to the end. Gradually regaining his strength, he made things interesting and was found at all times lending encouragement to his badly battered line.

Driver put up a strong defensive game, but was unable to gain much by line bucking on account of the strength of the Exeter line.

Bullock, the star Andover half back, made several long runs, and once Hobbs broke through for 25 yards. One of Bullock's runs was for 35 yards. Bartholomew played a hard game for Andover and Brown and Schildmiller put up strong games on the ends.

The weakest position on the Andover team, however, was at quarterback. Moorehead, who was selected to play in Dillon's place, made many blunders and his running of the team was wretched at times. He was slow in getting off the plays and frequently mixed up his signals. His attempts at quarterback runs were all signal failures and his slowness often prevented his getting the ball after a fumble when it lay at his feet. His work improved somewhat in the second half and he certainly tried hard to do good work. The failure to play Dillon was criticized right and left by Andover students and frequently during the game they called for Dillon, but the coaches refused to send him into the game. Dillon has played a conspicuously strong game and favoritism is said to have been the real cause of his being retired, although Coach Corbin is said to have considered Dillon unreliable. While Andover admits defeat and has no excuse to offer the fact that the team would have worked better together had Dillon been directing the plays. The best play Moorehead made was a clever tackle of Hart after the Exeter back had broken through for a long gain. But for the tackle Exeter would have secured another touchdown.

WHAT ALL THE WORLD IS DOING

Trend of Civilization in All Lines From Week to Week

POLITICS and GOVERNMENT

General.

The President's Acknowledgment.

As soon as the election returns surely indicated the result President Roosevelt summoned the correspondents into his room at the White House and dictated the following statement:

"I am deeply sensible of the honor done me by the American people in thus expressing their confidence in what I have done and have tried to do. I appreciate to the full the solemn responsibility
this confidence imposes upon me, and I shall do all that in my power lies not to forfeit it."

"On the fourth of March next I shall have served three and one-half years, and this three and one-half years constitutes my first term.
The wise custom which limits the president to two terms regards the substance and not the form. Under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination."

Answering a telegram of congratula-tion from Chairman Cortelyou of the national committee, the president expressed his appreciation of the chair-man's management of the campaign.
More than 10,000 messages of congrat-ulation have reached the president, including the rulers and statesmen of Europe as well as the leading citizens of America. Among them was the following from Alton B. Parker:

"The people by their votes have emphatically approved your administration, and I congratulate you."

The president replied as follows:
"I thank you for your congratulations."

Judge Parker's Afterthought.

In an open letter "to the Democracy of the nation," given to the press on the day after election, Mr. Parker thanks those in charge of his campaign and expresses his belief that the people will soon realize that "the tariffed trusts are absorbing the wealth of the nation." He declares his purpose never to seek a nomination for public office, but promises to work in the ranks for ultimate Democratic harmony and success. In his opinion the great moral question is, "Shall the trusts and corporations be prevented from contributing money to control or to aid in controlling elections?" He charges his defeat in a measure to the large army of Republican officeholders in every northern, western and eastern state. It is understood that Mr. Parker will resume the practice of law at New York.

Principal Election Features.

Missouri.—For the first time since the war this rock ribbed Democratic state has toppled into the Republican column by from 10,000 to 15,000 plurality for Roosevelt, while at the same time the awakened conscience of the state elected Folk (Dem.) governor by an indicated majority of 50,000. Legislature Republican.

Massachusetts.—Organized labor in this state is credited with electing the Democratic candidate for governor,
William L. Douglas, the millionaire Brookline shoe manufacturer, by a plurality of over 30,000. The labor element had been incensed by Governor Bates' veto of the overtime bill to prevent women and children from working in factories after 6 at night. This diversion, however, did not affect the national canvass, Roosevelt's plurality being about 100,000 and the legislature
Republican, as usual.

Rhode Island.—Back in the Republican column, Utter defeating Garvin by 594 votes and Roosevelt winning by 15,000.

Wisconsin.—Governor La Follette was elected by an estimated plurality of 50,000 and Roosevelt electors by more than 60,000. The La Follette faction controls the legislature, which will choose a successor to Quarles. This means also that Wisconsin will have a primary election law.

Maryland.—At this writing it appears that Maryland's electoral vote will be divided.

West Virginia.—In this the home
state of Candidate Davis a Republican plurality of over 25,000 was indicated.
Dawson (Rep.) elected governor and a Republican majority in the legislature.

Colorado.—Here the result was close and at first disputed, but later Governor Peabody himself conceded his defeat by Adams with a plurality of about 10,000. Both sides claim the legislature. Peabody attributes his defeat to his policy in the mining strike.

Nebraska.—In Bryan's state Roosevelt received over 80,000 plurality, and Mickey (Rep.) is elected governor by a close majority. Watson polled a large vote.

Delaware.—Interest here centered in the legislature, where the Republican factions have a substantial majority, but with the supporters of Addicks for senator still short of a majority.

Nevada.—The Republicans appeared to have the state by 2,000.

New York.—The Empire State, which Democrats had professed to regard as doubtful, gave Roosevelt 174,000 plurality, or 31,000 more than McKinley's in 1900. This wave carried Higgins into the governorship by over 75,000, although the betting odds had favored Herrick.

Indiana.—Unofficial returns gave Roosevelt over 60,000 plurality.

The Sure States.

All the rest of the northern and western states went Republican as expected,
but with unexpected majorities, Pennsylvania heading the list with the unprecedented plurality of 494,525, said to be the largest vote ever given a presidential candidate in any state.
Philadelphia gave Roosevelt 227,693
out of 280,713 votes. Other pluralities
were: Ohio, 259,000; Illinois, 200,000;
California, 115,000; Washington, 70,000;
Connecticut, 30,000; Michigan, 125,000;
Iowa, 150,000; the Dakotas, 16,000;
Minnesota, 90,000; New Jersey, 55,000,
and the New England states about as usual. Roosevelt's total plurality in the country has reached at this writing 2,062,428. Governor Toole (Dem.)
of Montana was re-elected by 5,000,
but all other offices and the legislature are Republican and Roosevelt gets over 7,000. All the southern states except Missouri remained in the Democratic column. The electoral vote stood 343 for Roosevelt to 133 for Parker.

Socialist Gains.

The vote for Debs (Socialist) showed surprising growth in the country,
and especially in the middle west,
where in some places it ran neck and neck with the Parker vote. In Illinois the Socialists estimate their vote at 75,000 and in Chicago at 45,000. This state heads the list, New York taking second rank, with over 40,000 Socialist votes. The gain of this party in the country since 1900 is over 400 per cent,
the total vote probably exceeding 500-000.

Increased Congress Majority.

The elections for members of the house of representatives showed Republican gains in nearly every state except those of the solid south. Even the chairman of the Democratic congressional committee, Mr. Cowherd of Missouri, lost his seat. On the other hand, that of Chairman Baebcock, in Wisconsin, is still in doubt at this writing. Unofficial returns indicate a Republican majority of 108. Although Senator Cockrell of Missouri will lose his seat after a service of thirty years,
the Republican majority in the senate is likely to remain unchanged.

Bryan Again in Front.

Without affirming or denying the stories about his conferring with Hearst and Watson to reorganize the Democracy, W. J. Bryan says the defeat of his party was in no sense personal to Judge Parker. With great unctious he adds, "Surely silver cannot be blamed for this defeat." He declares the result was due to the fact that the Democratic party "attempted to be conservative in the presence of conditions which demand radical remedies." He thinks the campaign shows that "it is expedient from the standpoint of policy, as it is wrong from the standpoint of principle, to attempt any conciliation of the industrial and financial despots who gradually are getting control of the avenues of wealth." To win in 1908, Mr. Bryan says, the Democrats must break away from the conservatism which has failed of its purpose and again stand for liberal policies, such as smaller army, income tax, bimetallism and the curbing of trusts.
He reasons that the trusts cannot be fought successfully by any party that depends upon trust funds. He suggests "death to every private monopoly" as the party slogan. State ownership of railroads and the postal telegraph system are among the reforms
he will seek.

Debs on Socialist Gains.

Eugene F. Debs, the Socialist candidate, in a statement made at his home in Terre Haute, Ind., says that the tremendous increase in the Socialist vote this year means that the working class is waking up to the necessity of independent political action. From this time forward he thinks its growth will be rapid and permanent without fusion or compromise. He believes that organized labor will soon vote, as it strikes, to make the 25,000,000 wage-workers "the masters of the machinery of production." He thinks that the "trustification" of industry will now go forward more swiftly than ever,

thus paving the way for "the collective possession of it when the working class comes in control of the government." With the Republican party in absolute control he figures a heavy reckoning of disappointment in the next four years. Factiously he remarks that we shall now see President Roosevelt draw the fangs of the trusts and wave the wand of prosperity in the face of the impending industrial depression.

Foreign.

Italian Conservatives Gain.

General elections for the members of the Italian chamber, which occurred
Nov. 6, resulted in an increase for the Conservative or Ministerial party. The power of the extreme parties was lessened. All the members of the cabinet were re-elected, and likewise the leaders of the Constitutional and Socialistic parties.

More Mobilization Riots.

In spite of press censorship Berlin papers continue to receive reports of serious resistance in Poland and other provinces of south Russia to the compulsory enlistment of soldiers for the eastern war. At Czesochowa, Russian Poland, the regular soldiers were ordered to fire upon a procession of men opposed to the war, the flag bearer and five others being killed and twenty injured. Similar uprisings are reported from Kaner and Rodomsk.

Cuban Congress Reconvened.

The winter session of congress opened at Havana Nov. 7, and it was expected that the Nationalists would abandon their obstruction policy. President Palma submitted the budget for next year, amounting to $19,000,000, of which $2,500,000 is for new roads and bridges.

Wants to Parley on Tibet.

The Chinese government has requested Great Britain to name a meeting place for a commission representing both countries to consider the Anglo-Tibetan treaty signed at Lassa in September.

Executive.

To Standardize Whisky.

The department of agriculture under the law to establish food standard of purity has decided to begin extensive experiments for the standardizing of whisky. Samples from about 100 houses and from many hotels and saloons over the country have been ordered for examination. Distillers, rectifiers and consumers will be heard. Chief Chemist Wiley insists that
Dr. H. W. Wiley,
should bear a label stating their composition. So far the standardizing committee has acted on meats, butter, cheese, spices and sugar.

Another Battleship Ready.

In the presence of a distinguished company of naval officers and state officials of New Jersey and Massachusetts
the cruiser New Jersey was launched
Nov. 10 from the shipyards of the Fore
River Shipbuilding company at Quincy, Mass.

Wireless Forest Protection.

A system of wireless telegraph fire alarms is to be tried for the protection of the national park reserves under the direction of the secretary of agriculture. It will be tried first in the Black Hills reservation, and the alarm will be communicated automatically as the wireless circuit comes in contact with flames or excessive heat.

Japs In Port Arthur Will Talk Peace

Fleeting visions of what must be happening every day in that inferno, the Russian fortress and city of Port Arthur, have roused again the conscience of civilization for permitting the continuance of the eastern war. Lord Lansdowne voiced England's plea for arbitration in his lord mayor's address last week, and the triumph of President Roosevelt, it was hoped, would justify him in taking an initiative with Germany, France and England to second the motion.

Just as these peace overtures were in the air and while the Japanese besiegers were expected almost hourly to enter Port Arthur either by a last bloody assault or by the surrender of the Russian garrison Baron Hayashi, the Japanese ambassador at London, said, "After the fall of Port Arthur Japan would, I believe, be ready to treat for peace on no higher essential basis than that Russia should evacuate Manchuria, Japan also agreeing to a similar evacuation."

The opposing armies in Manchuria remained face to face along the Sha river, with a frontage of eighty miles, the outposts so close that the men could banter each other and exchanged luxuries, while the artillery kept up desultory firing. Each army was crouched as for a leap at the other's throat.

It was denied that all the Russian ships had been destroyed by the Japanese fleet. Three hospital ships were reported sunk in the harbor with all on board, being hit by shells. General Stoessel was said to have asked for a truce to bury the dead. The fear of a massacre by the victorious and resentful Japanese caused him to consider a surrender.

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Thompson, of Lillydale, N.Y., Grand Worthy Wise Templar, and Member of W.C.T.U., tells how she recovered by the use of Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am one of the many of your grateful friends who have been cured through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and who can to-day
thank you for the fine health I enjoy.
When I was thirty-five years old, I suffered severe backache and frequent bearing-down pains; in fact, I had womb trouble. I was very anxious to get well, and reading of the cures your Compound had made, I decided to try
it. I took only six bottles, but it built me up and cured me entirely of my troubles.
My family and relatives were naturally as gratified as I was. My niece had heart trouble and nervous prostration, and was considered incurable. She took your Vegetable Compound and it cured her in a short time,
and she became well and strong, and her home to her great joy and her husband's delight was blessed with a baby.
I know of a number of others who have been cured of different kinds of female trouble, and am satisfied that your Compound is the best medicine for sick women."—MRS. ELIZABETH H.

AN ABLE LECTURE ON THE "BROWN TAIL."

Stevens hall, North Andover was filled with an interested audience on Friday evening, when Prof. A. H.
Kirkland of Boston, consulting entomologist, delivered a lecture on "The Gypsy and Brown Tail Moths."

The lecture was arranged for by Selectmen James C. Poor, P. P. Dawson and Peter Holt (who is also tree warden), and the tree protective committee from the Village Improvement association, consisting of Judge N. P. Frye,
George E. Kunhardt, Sam D. Stevens,
Granville E. Foss, Jr., Walter H.
Hayes and Peter Holt.

President George E. Kunhardt of the association who presided, made a brief, but fitting introductory speech, in which he asked for the earnest co-operation of the townsfolk in eradicating
the insects so destructive to the foliage and trees.

The lecture, which was a valuable production on a timely topic, drew the rapid attention of all present.

Prof. Kirkland who is a capital speaker, possessing a fund of practical information on the subject presented, defined his remarks mainly to the
brown tail moths.

A series of beautiful stereopticon views gave added interest to the very intelligent talk, embodying the result of investigation continued over ten years.

The speaker referred to the value of trees to the community and the popular attitude towards them.

The insect problem, he said, is on the increase owing to the introduction of new pests, like the gypsy moth and brown tail moths from abroad, and also from the increase of the English sparrow, which drives out our native insectivorous birds.

The common insect pests have been carefully studied and remedies are available for all the important ones.

The gypsy moth winters in yellow hair-colored masses on tree trunks, walls, fences, etc. These eggs are in sight from August to May and should be sought out and thoroughly soaked with creosote mixture. During the caterpillar season the spraying with arsenical poisons is advisable, or if preferred with kerosene or old cloth. The caterpillars will be found in numbers
under these bands each morning.

The brown tail moth, also an importation from Europe, has the odd habit of wintering in half-grown colonies in webs at the tops of the twigs of fruit and shade trees. This insect is primar-ly a fruit tree pest, but is also injurious to oaks and other shade trees.

It is not necessary to describe the painful poisoning or netting caused by these insects when they come in contact with the flesh.

All this annoyance and the damage to trees may be prevented by cutting off and burnings the webs.

Prof. Kirkland made a strong plea for the practical and moral support of his appreciative audience in the effort to secure the better preservation of our trees from damage.

He cited, with approval, the efforts made along this line at Arlington,
Lowell, Salem, Beverly, and other places.

Full instruction as to the preparation and use of remedies were given in each case, together with a number of illustrations of spraying outfits and other devices used in this work.

The lecture, which treated in an able manner of the brown tail moths, received justly merited and hearty applause.

At its close Prof. Kirkland kindly answered queries from the audience.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the

This department is conducted under the direction of Miss Jennie Nash, a skillful seamstress.

The Black Stockings, of Andover, it is understood, are looking for another game with the Blue Stockings this year but as previously they want them to play on Brothers field in Andover, where the Blue put them down in a defeat last Thanksgiving. The Blues are willing to play in Andover if they are given $50 before the game, and are willing to give the Andover team one half the collections if the game is played on Grogan's field.

Cochichewick engine company held a steamed clam supper, followed by an entertainment on Saturday night. When the supper had received the attention of all, adjournment was made to the hall, where for several hours, a program of song, music and story was carried out. Charles E. Holt contributed the instrumental numbers. Well merited applause was awarded the various selections by the audience. Every thing passed off in a very satisfactory manner, and many words of praise were heard for the following committee, which was capablely conducted: the affair: Capt. Thomas H. Broderick, Lieut. John F. Davis, Clerk-Treasurer Herbert E. Mead, Steward David Crocker, Fred Winnings, William R. Halliwell and Andrew Winnings.

The boys of the Johnson High school football team are to conduct an informal dancing party in Stevens hall on next Friday evening. It will be a very pleasant social event and that fact is assured. The boys have put in some good hard work this fall on the gridiron and as a result a representative team has been turned out which has made a first class record.

The affair is held in benefit of the team and the funds will be devoted to its needs. The boys should receive liberal patronage from the alumni and their many admiring friends who are glad of their successes. It has been seldom in recent years that so strong a team has represented the school not since the team of '99 in fact and the good work of the present team should be encouraged.

THE HIGH SCHOOL DANCE.

The patronesses of the dance of the Johnson High school football team to be given in Stevens hall on Friday evening will be Mrs. George C. Josselyn, Mrs. William Howes, Miss Annie Sargent, Miss Edna O. Spaulley and Miss Gertrude Rogers. The Columbian orchestra will furnish music. The affair will be one of the social events of the season.

CANT SCORE TOUCHDOWN.

The Johnson High school football eleven can't score a touchdown or next Friday evening when they conduct their social dancing party in Stevens hall, but they can score a great success and every one should assist the boys to score. The party will be a nice one. The Columbian orchestra will furnish music. Tickets are on sale.

TEACHER'S RESIGNATION ACCEPTED.

The members of the local school committee held their regular meeting on last Tuesday afternoon. The usual routine business of the committee was transacted. The resignation of Miss Ida F. Carleton as a teacher at the Farnham school was taken up and after some consideration accepted. No one was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Carleton, which is to go into effect at the Thanksgiving recess.

ATTENDED TURKEY SUPPER.

Quite a large number of local Good Templars attended the turkey supper and entertainment given by Longfellow lodge in Haverhill on Monday evening. They report a most excellent time. Farnham; secretary and treasurer, Miss Dollie M. Farnham; executive committee, Miss Ida Atkins, Mrs. L. R. Starrett, Miss Kate T. Fuller.

CLUB MEMBERS DON'T SMOKE.

The warden, Rev. H. Usher Monro and the directors of the Roger Wilcott club spoke emphatically against the evils of cigarette smoking among the boys at the last meeting of the club, and it is to be the established rule that any boy caught smoking will be suspended from membership until he gives up the habit. This rule will be laid out to the letter by the enforcement of a world of good will be done among the boys that are now growing up.

P. A. BOYS WON.

The boys of the Johnson High school football eleven went to Andover on Friday afternoon where they played a game with the Phillips Andover 1905 class team and were defeated by a score of 10 to 0. A touchdown was scored by the academy boys but they were unable to kick the ball. The game was played on a field. Principal Ralph L. Wiggin acted as timekeeper. The game was played in two 15-minute periods. The local High school boys were greatly handicapped and their team weakened materially by the absence of two of their best men, Captain McKee who was injured in the Lawrence High game and Dushan, who was unable to go over. The lineup of the High school team was: Dickey E. Bassett lg, Leach rg, Hamilton rt, Hamilton lt, O'Brien lt, Wood le, Taylor re, Cleo qb, Josselyn lb, Carey rhb and Fry fb.

METHODISTS' LECTURE COURSE.

A course of three lectures has been arranged by the official board and the pastor, Rev. George E. Sanderson of the Methodist church. The course is a fine one and the price of tickets is reasonable. The tickets are now on sale and may be procured at Perkins drug store.

The first lecture will be held on Friday evening, December 2nd when Prof. Eijiro Takasugi, Ph. D., a graduate of the Boston University in the class of 1893 and the late professor of English Literature in the Imperial college at Sapporo, Japan, will speak on the subject, Japan and Russia and the Great War in the East. His lecture will be illustrated by stereopticon views.

On the second evening, Friday, December 16th will be given readings by Ezekieliah Butterworth, poet, author and editor and selections on the violin by Prof. Ashton Lewis. It will be an original program. Mr. Butterworth will read selections from his own writings and Mr. Lewis will play his own compositions.

On December 30th, Friday evening, George W. Pennington will give a stereopticon lecture on the subject, "From Plymouth Rock to the Golden Gate," and a visit to the St. Louis Exposition."

ADA REHAN AT THE MAJESTIC.

Miss Ada Rehan, supported by Charles Richman and an especially selected company of players in Shakespearean and Sheridan comedies, will be the attraction at the Majestic theatre for two weeks only, beginning Monday evening, Nov. 14. This comedienne has selected "The School for Scandal," "The Taming of the Shrew" and "The Country Girl," as the plays for her repertoire for her Boston engagement, and for the first week it is announced as follows: "The Taming of the Shrew," Monday, Tuesday and Saturday nights and Saturday matinee; and "The School for Scandal," Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

Miss Rehan has included in her company this season such well known favorites as Mrs. Thomas Barry, Mr. Wm. Redmond, Mr. Oliver D. Byron and many others who have demonstrated their particular proficiency in delightful old comedy roles.

The seat sale has been in progress since Wednesday, Nov. 9, and there has naturally been a brisk demand for tickets. Mail orders will receive prompt attention if addressed to Manager Smith of the Majestic theatre.

After the Boston engagement Miss Rehan will positively not appear in any other New England city this season.

OTIS SKINNER IN HIS NEW PLAY OF "THE HARVESTER."

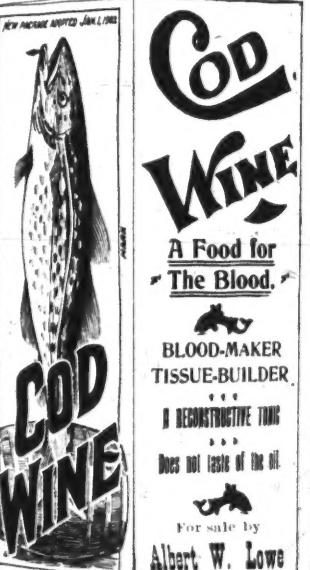

Direct from his notable artistic triumph at the Lyric theatre, New York, Otis Skinner will appear at the Park theatre for two weeks, beginning Monday, Nov. 21, in his unique new footlight creation, that of the title-role of "The Harvester." This scholarly and graceful portrayal of poetic and romantic roles seems, to judge from all praise he has received during the highly successful run of the play in the metropolis, to have the best role of his stage career in this latest characterization of its gipsy-spiced hero.

All the scenes have a French Canadian setting that is a decided novelty in itself. This "drama of the fields" has been styled by the late Francisque Sarcy, the greatest of all modern French critics, as "a dramatic idyl of the golden wheat-fields, full of the beauty of sylvan charm, with types like those simple-hearted peasant tillers of the soil, glorified by Millet in his famous painting of 'The Angelus.' A strikingly curious feature of the play is that in which the Harvester frightens the superstitious Seigneur by his gipsy magic being luckily aided by a timely thunder-storm. This scene is a remarkable blending of humorous comedy with almost Mephistophelian effects. The cast promises notable work, including as it does, among others, such expert players as Lizzie Hudson, Collier, Maud Durbin, Marion Abbott, J. M. Colville, Walter Lewis and George Clarke.

Henry Walton was surprised Saturday evening at the residence of his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Walton, 44 W. Frank Kennedy in an admirable speech, presented him, in behalf of the company, with a valuable and handsome gold watch chain and charm, as a testimonial of high regard.

The recipient was completely surprised but he managed to make an appropriate and grateful reply.

There was dancing, vocal and instrumental music, and a choice and very generous collation.

VAUDEVILLE AT THE COLONIAL.

The universal verdict of the theatre-going public is that Manager Phillips of the Colonial theatre, is furnishing in this week's program the best bill that has ever been presented in Lawrence. An invitation has been extended by Manager Phillips to the little ones of the Children's Home who will visit this beautiful playhouse on Friday afternoon this week.

Notwithstanding the excellence of the program this week Manager Phillips claims that the bill next week will be without question of a doubt the greatest that has ever been offered in any theatre outside of the big centers. On the bill is the famous Harrington, ventriloquist; Warren and Gardner, the comedian and singer; Flora Parker, singing comedienne; the famous Magnin family in an act entitled "The Musical Barbers" in a barber shop. As an extra attraction will be presented Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Barry in one of their famous sketches. The Vitagraph will also furnish a series of new and novel pictures. Children's cloakings and woolen remnants of all kinds at Farr's Remnant store, Lawrence.

The following is a short account of the burning of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Downs of High street: BRIDGTON, Nov. 15, (Special to the Express).—During the fierce storm of Sunday night the homestead of James Hillingsworth in West Bridgton was destroyed by fire. One of the chimneys burned out during the day but was closely watched and the family retired feeling that all was secure. Shortly after 11 o'clock Mr. Hillingsworth awoke to discover his buildings in flames. Mrs. Hillingsworth, being subject to heart failure, demanded his first attention, his cattle next. Nothing was saved. A loss of not less than $1,200 was sustained. Mr. Hillingsworth is one of the highly esteemed citizens of the town.
